Course Description

A Fire Death occurs every 3 hours in the United States. Critical mistakes can be made in dual Fire Death/Arson investigations. This course will introduce cutting-edge investigative methods and techniques, supported by case study analysis from subject matter experts in the field of Fatal Fire Death, Homicide and Forensic Investigations.

The feature speaker, Dr. Elayne Pope will take a deep dive into the effects of fire and burn patterns on human remains and identifying pre-existing trauma.

This course will introduce attendees to the best practice of the “Team Concept” for collaboration with Fire Death and Homicide Investigators and the Medical Examiner’s Office to ensure the most accurate and thorough investigations.

Even the most thorough and best performed investigations can fall short if investigators are not equipped with what’s needed to successfully prosecute the case. Essential court preparation for fire-related death investigations and prosecution will be covered.
