ABOUT FACAP

Our Philosophy: Founded in 1975, the Florida Advisory Committee on Arson Prevention is a non-profit organization developed for the sole purpose to wage a war against the ever-growing problem of arson and insurance fraud in the state of Florida.

Our Mission: FACAP's mission is to provide to the citizens of Florida the necessary tools to successfully fight the Battle against arson through its dedication and Commitment to provide the highest level of expert education, professional training, arson awareness, legislative oversight, legal review and evaluations on all matters related to arson, in addition to maintaining and providing for an Arson Rewards Program available to law enforcement and citizens alike.

Our Fight: Arson has become one of the fastest growing and most neglected of serious crimes, increasing each year. Arson is viewed by most as being a property crime. However, arson is in fact a very violent and deadly crime and has been viewed too long as just a crime committed by the average homeowner or business owner looking for a way out of debt. The consumers of the State of Florida are directly affected by the crime of arson through loss of lives, higher insurance premiums, manpower expenses, taxes and other related expenditures used to fight the crime of arson and related activities.

Annual Seminar

During the seminar, attendees have a chance to:

- meet and network with peers in the industry
- obtain new educational information
- interact with vendors on the latest in the field of fire investigation information, equipment, technology, and education.

Training: The seminar combines classroom lecture with hands on training opportunities to allow the attendee experience learning in a meaningful way. FACAP strives to provide up to date and quality training through recognized instructors and presenters.

Scholarships: To insure the public sector has the opportunity to attend, FACAP offers scholarships for public sector employees for tuition, meals and lodging at the State Fire College. Attendees are encouraged to submit an application for a scholarship. Applications can be found on the website at FACAP.org.

Awards: Each year, during the Annual Training Seminar, FACAP recognizes the public and private "Fire Investigator of the Year". In addition, the Ed Meshalko Distinguished Service Award and Lifetime Membership Award. The industry is encouraged to submit names for the fire investigator awards. For submission details, please visit our website <http://www.facap.org>
